Married at Minneapolis.

Miss Clara Louise Gaines of this city and Otis P. Briggs of Minneapolis were married in the latter city on Monday, Nov. 15th. They are now making an extended wedding tour through south-1721 W. Lake street, Minneapolis, after Jan. 15th. The bride is a daughter of Thos. Gaines, 245 Plover street. and had always made this city her home previous to several years ago when she went to Minneapolis to become a trained nurse. She is possessed of many charming qualities that will make her a helpful wife.

Mr. Briggs is president of the National Founders' association and has long been connected with the executive forces of this active organization of foundrymen. In 1903 he gave up his manufacturing interests in the Minneapolis Steel and Machinery Co. to accept a commissionership in the national organization, with which he has ever since been connected and he maintains an office in the Metropolitan building in Minneapolis. The success of Mr. Briggs in labor adjustments makes him a valuable member of the association.

We are pleased to record the marr urnese wanute to W. J. Burling, well known residents of Amherst. The ceremony took place last Wednesday evening in the parlors of the Central Hotel in that village and was performed by Rev. Smith, pastor of the local Methodist church. Only a few relatives and intimate friends were present. Mrs. Burling has been landlady at the Central for several years and is one of Amberst's most esteemed citizens. The groom has also lived in that village for several years and until recently was associated with O. C. Loomis in buying and selling horses. Mr. Burilog will in future assist his wife in conducting the hotel, which has long enjoyed the reputation of being a leading hostelry in this section ern states and will be "at home" at of the state. Dr. D. S. Rice said this would probably be the last opportunity to express our appreciation of the good work done by the Grand Knight, Emil A. The speaker told of some of the meri-Father Meagher spoke of the liberality of the Knights of Columbus coupon division in the Soo company's along the lines of education, they havng promised to raise $500,000 for the Catholic University at Washington, $33,000 of which had already been paid for coupon tickets sold at various stain, and said he hoped all would continue tions on the Soo lines. M. K. Reilly, of Fond du Lac. was on the program to respond to the toast, "The Knights of Columbus," but was unable to be present, and D. I. Sicklesteel was called upon by the toastmaster to fill the gap. Although he had been notified scarcely an hour before, Mr. Sicklesteel thoroughly explained the objects of the order, saying that it is an organization of Catholic gentlemen, having degrees, pass-words, etc. and teaches the doctrine of faith, hope and charity, the greatest of these virtues being charity, and its members are always ready to lend a helping hand to a deserving brother, be he Catholic or Protestant. The order has a membership of 215,000 in the United States and Canada, and it also aims to promulgate the christian doctrine so that its members may be able to explain their religion ably and fearlessly whenever and wherever they may be called upon to do so. The speaker paid a tribute to the public and parochial schools of this country, saying that they are second to none in the world.

Rev. L. A. Ricklin, of Green Bay, who was to have spoken, was detained on account of illness, and Father Rice was called upon to respond to the toast. "The Council Chamber, a School of Noble Friendship." Father Rice's remarks were mostly along the line of commending the social side of the order as it has a tendency to promote friendship, and we all need friends, he said. These annual banquets are a pleasing feature and the speaker said he was sorry that they do not come more often. He spoke in highest terms of praise of the toastmaster, Mr. Krembs, and said he deplored and regretted his departure. In their new home, Father Rice said, Mr. Krembs and family are bound to make friends of all whom they meet.

The last speaker of the evening was Chas. H. Cashin, who responded to the toast. "The Ladies." He began by he, a bachelor, should be called upon to as follows: toust the ladies unless it was because no married man dares to speak upon so delicate a subject. The cost of the bridge was $407 and $190 had been contributed by the farmers in that vicinity in work. Considerable grading has also been done of the former's brother at Rice Lake. and the town of Dewey will contribute $40 for that purpose. The committee has contributed $14.40 for work at rocky ridge, on the main road.

Mr. Bruce, secretary of the association, reported that $11.55 had been expended for material for new tables, and he had done the work without cost. Senator E. E. Senator Browne's remarks were along the same line with those expressed by him a few weeks ago when he visited Stevens Point as a member of the legislative committee, he at first speaking of the comparative cost of transporting products over good and poor roads, and of the great benefit good roads are to the farmers of our land. The state is now in a position to assist in the building of country roads, that question having been settled at the last general election by a majority vote of 80,000, and the question is now up to the legislature to frame and adopt a same and

ADVICE TO WOMEN

A Message From a Famous Beauty Specialist to Women Lacking in Energy and Vitality.

Thousands of women vainly attempt to improve their complexion and to re-move blackheads, crows' feet and other blemishes, through the use of cosmetics. This treatment fails because the trouble lies far deeper than the skin. They are suffering from impure and impoverished blood. This condition is in many cases due to a catarrhal condition of the whole system which finds its expression in sallow, muddy complexion, dark - circled eyes, general weakness of the system, and perhaps most plainly in the weeping of mucous membranes that is commonly called

Mme. Swift, New York, the famous farming. beauty specialist known throughout the world and an accepted authority on all relating thereto, states that the one positive and permanent relief for catarrh is Rexall Mucu-Tone. Here is her letter:

"I can strongly endorse the claims made for Rexall Mucu-Tone as a cure for systemic catarrh. Its tonic effects are remarkable. It builds up the strength and restores vitality. If women who are tired and run down, lacking in energy and vitality, will use Rexall Mucu-Tone, they will praise as I do its strengthening and healing

Rexall Mucu-Tone works through the blood, acting thus upon the mucous blood, acting thus upon the mucous cells—the congestion and inflamation of which causes local catarrh. This remedy causes poison to be expelled from the system, and the blood is purified and revitalized. Thus the natural functions of the mucous cells are restored, and the membranes are cleaneed and made strong. We know that Rexall Mucu-Tone does relieve catarrh. We positively guarantee to refund the money paid us for this remedy in every case where the user is diseatisfied. It is a builder of vigorous health and a creator of good complexions. Price 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. Mail orders filled. It may be obtained only at our store—The Rexall Store. Alex. Krembs Jr. Drug Co.

There were two Margaret Burtons in Roxboro. Of course John Graham's letter went to the wrong one, and of course it was one of those letters that only one pair of eyes-the ones for whose delectation it had been written -should have looked upon.

A Lesson In Physiology.

The school superintendent was in the habit of dropping in to the different class rooms and demanding a recital of lessons from the pupils. One day her active mind hit upon physiology as the study for examination.

It happened that the teacher did herself not like the study of the buman anatomy and therefore had not drilled her scholars as she should have done. But the little girl to whom the first question was put so bewildered the superintendent and made her lose her patience that there were no more questions of a similar nature asked.

"Tell me." said the superintendent, 'what a skeleton is."

A Brief Introduction.

Mark Twain said the only introduction to a literary audience that seemed to him the right word in the right place, a real inspiration, was as fol-

"Ladies and gentlemen. I shall not waste any unnecessary time in the introduction. I don't know anything about this man-at least I only know two things about him. One is that he has never been in prison, and the other is I can't see why he hasn't,"

Mlle. Felicia Romanowska, Famous Grand Grand Opera Singer, to be Heard in Stevens Point.

A rare treat for music lovers of Stevens Point and vicinity is to be afforded them when Mlle, Felicia Romanowska. city they will make their future home. singer of Europe, appears in a song recital at St. Paul's M. E. church, Friday evening of this week, November S. H. Parmeter of this city, arrived and Stevens Point is very fortunate in securing her for that night.

Mile. Romanowska first graduated as a planiste from Vienna Conservatory of Music, where she won the grand prize. Young, a brother of Mrs. Eugene Tack While there it was discovered that she of this city, had his right elbow badly possessed a wonderful soprano voice shattered by the accidental discharge which was carefully trained at this f a gun.

S. K. Rounds, of Milwaukee, has Mile. Romanowska went to Milan, been in the city for the past few days Italy, where she studied with the great visiting at the residence of Jas. Francisco Lamperti until a finished Meehan. We shall expect to see him artiste. She made her debut in Lucia in Stevens Point quite often in the di Lammermoor and later appeared in Faust, Barber of Seville, Huguenots, Traviata and other operas in all the principal opera houses of Italy and Germany with a phenomenal success.

From Germany Mlle. Romanowska went to France, where she won the friendship and commendation of such authorities as Massenet and Diemer, her reception by the French critics being unusual for a foreign artiste.

Mlle. Romanowska is now on her western tour and comes to Stevens Point by special request of some of the leading citizens, who deserve high commendation from the public for the great efforts laid in bringing this famous artiste to this city.

She will sing arias from the leading grand operas and lyrics in several languages, especially in English. In order to give everybody in the city an opportunity of hearing a genuine grand opera singer, the arrangement committee has decided upon a general admission price of only 50 cents a person. Tickets can now be purchased at the Krembs drug store and from members people were fed during the afternoon of St. Paul's parish. Buy your tickets and evening. A full sized, four year early so as to assure yourself of a seat.

MAN IN ISOLATION.

He Is of Little Consequence and Is a Barrier to Progress.

It is not an easy thing for a man to | separate himself from the thought and activity and purpose of the community in which he lives and to pursue an isolated, disconnected and selfish part. it he will only reduce himself to a cipher or stumbling block. The community will get on somehow, for it must, but if it has many members of this kind it will be dull, heavy and unprogressive.

Man in isolation is of little consequence, next to nothing. His association with others, the inspiration be receives from others, draw out his own powers. "The state," to this day, as Plato conceived it, remains "a product of mind." Out of the action and interaction of currents of mind, affected and even directed by variant views or opinions, comes the whole progress of man, of society, of the human race. We want what Burke described as "that action and counteraction which in the natural and political world, from the reciprocal struggle of discordant powers, araw out the harmony of the universe."

The most isolated man cannot separate himself from the situation he lives in. If such isolation were general or could be general it would be the negation of civilization.-Portland Orego-

SUBMARINE RIVERS.

Cold Water Currents Flowing Along the Deep Sea Bottom.

The bottom currents of seas and oceans, such as those which possibly bring amber to our shores, are strangely disposed. The seigneur of Sark some fifty years ago was shipwrecked in his yacht near the island of Guernsey. He lost, among other things, a well fastened, strongly made chest containing sliver plate. It was found a year later in deep water of the coast of Norway and restored to him.

In the really deep sea over a thousand fathoms down there are well 4 described as rivers of very cold water (only 4 degrees or so above freezing point). They flow along the deep sea bottom and are sharply marked of from the warmer waters above and to the side. Their inhabitants are different from those of the warmer water. They are due to the melting of the polar ice, the cold water so formed sinking at once owing to its greater density below the warmer water of the surface currents.

These deep currents originate in both tue arctic and antarctic regions.-Sir Ray Lankester in London Telegraph.

Belka-Berski Marriage.

Emil Belka and Miss Julia Borski were married last Wednesday at St. Peter's church, Kev. L. J. Pescinkui officiating, and were attended by Vincent Jurzella and Miss Mary Clark. A wedding reception, attended by a number of friends of the contracting parties, followed at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. John Gornowicz, 503 North Second street, where a wedding dinner and supper were served. Miss Borski wore an empire gown of cream colored serge and the bridesmaid's dress was a light blue princess. The latter young lady carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

The groom has resided in this city much of his life, being an employe of the Vetter Manfg. Co. and also a member of the Union band, while the bride, who has also lived here several years, has been an employe of the knitting factory. Both are worthy young people and have many friends in this city and county. They are now "at home" at 309 Smith street. Many choice gifts in silver, cut glass, etc., attested the esteem in which the bridal pair is held.

Even in their cavy of her the members of the rocking chair fleet could not help the admiration that forced itself into their glances as they beheld her. She was indeed pretty.

Davis and Margarette strolled along the country road listening to the birds and to the steady click-click of a mowing machine in a field near by. For a time they walked in silence, neither one finding words to fit Into the exquisite tranquillity of the scene.

At length they came to a running brook and halted by its side. They stood on the bank gazing into the mirror-like water. As Davis studied the reflection of the girl in the brook he fancied he saw her brush away a tear. He turned suddenly toward her to a Queer Defense.

The Belution of the Difference in Weight of the Box at Cape Name and at San Francisco—The Clever Move of an Astute Young Lawyer.

One of the most interesting trials that ever took place to any country was that of James Stevens in the Califorula courts for theft. The circumstances were as follows: There were four prospectors in the pounds for rags and 8 cents per pound for copper and red brass. Deal with Klondike region when the gold fever there was at its height, among whom Stevens was one. They "struck it rich," divided up and started out for And the next thing we shall know the United States. Just before leav-Aldrich may feel popular enough to come to Taft's rescue and assure the ing Stevens got into a faro game and lost everything be had. Winter was coming on and he bade fair to starve unless something was done for him. So the other three decided to pay him Of headaches, as well as older so much to guard their dust on the women, but all get quick relief and ship and pay his way home to San prompt cure from Dr. King's New Life Francisco. They each had their share Pills, the world's best remedy for sick and nervous headaches. They make dust and nuggets accurately pure blood, and strong nerves and build weighed and then put them into a common pile, pending, of course, their reapportionment on reaching port.

This they placed in a strong box which they nailed up and sealed carefully. It was Stevens' duty to watch this by day and sleep by it by night until the destination was reached. There was exactly 200 pounds avoirdupois of the gold, aworn to by a regular weigher. It was worth a great deal

Well, everything went along smoothly until San Francisco was reached. Stevens seeming to appreciate what his former partners were doing for him and guarding his trust jealously. When the ablp came into port the box was immediately removed, under the supervision of Stevens, to a place of reshare again and deduct so much for Stevens' pay.

it was found that instead of having 600 pounds of gold as before there was now only a fraction over 598 pounds. The partners were loath to distrust "The most merciless enemy I had for 20 years," declares Mrs. James Duncan, of Haynesville, Me., "was Stevens and had it reweighed twice, but with the same result each time,

The judge, not seeing any relation of physics to the theft, was about to refuse the young man when a peculiar glimmer in the latter's eye persuaded him to humor the boy. Johnson was placed on the stand, and the following colloquy en-

"With what does physics deal?" "With natural phenomena, or the changes in the state or condition of matter." "Does the weight of a person change as he changes his location on the earth?" "Yes."

"Just bow does that happen, and how much does the weight change?"

"The weight of any body is greatest at the poles of the earth, as they are the nearest points to the center. It gets less and less the farther we travel toward the equator, for we go away from the center. This effect is enbanced by the rotation of the earth, hodies tending to fly off more at the equator than near the poles. The combination of these two makes a body weigh one two-bundred-and-eightyninth less at the equator than at the poles and a proportionate amount for distances between."

"About what fraction of its wright would a body lose in going from Cape Nome, Alaska, to San Francisco?" "I should say about one in 300."

"Then gold weighing 600 pounds in Nome could not possibly weigh over 598 pounds here, could it?" "It could not."

It is prediens to say that Stevens was acquitted on this evidence. His former partners were so sorry of their recent suspicion and so eager to make amenda that they not only paid him the minry they had promised him, but set him up in business from their ample funds. This fact is peculiar, but perfectly in accord with reason. It is recognized by the United States government. Every time builion is sent from Washington to the New Orleans mint a certain amount of weight is lost in the mere act of transit. So to order to get the same amount of metal in each coin

GENERAL NEWS.

There is a possibility that President Zelaya of Nicaragua may attempt further high-handed action toward the United States and show his contempt. of President Taft's refusal to receive the new Nicaraguan minister by giving the American consul at Managua his passports before he can act further on behalf of this government.

"The safety of a ship going to a port which is closed or blockaded in fact or in theory is a question for the interested parties to determine and act on and not a question for determination by the officials concerned in clearances."

Two heroic men, R. Y. Williams and F. M. Morris, descended into the St. Paul mine at Cherry, Ill., and paved the way for a fight against the flames, and it is confidently believed that the entombed men dead or alive will soon be reached. They went down through the air shaft and found that the fire was raging at the foot of the shaft but in other portions of the mine the temperature was nearly normal, this gave the stricken women and children renewed hope.

John Mitchell, in a speech before the American Federation of Labor, indorsed a report of the committee on boycott and declared that he intended while at liberty to declare for the rights guaranteed him by the organic law of his country.

Washington.-The tense situation resulting from the reported execution | of two Americans, LeRoy Cannon and Leonard Grace by the order of President Zelaya of Nicaragua, for their alleged participation in the revolution now in progress in that country, has become aggravated by the failure to receive definite news of their fate and caused the state department to make the announcement Friday that in the future every American citizen abroad will be as safe as though he was in his own home.

The present heads of the department have chafed under the old-time statement that a British citizen was safe anywhere, but that if an American crossed a frontier he had to put himself under the protection of the British minister or consul before he could go out and look at the scenery with an unruffled mind.

That is the real movement back of the strenuous way in which the department of state is going after President Zelaya of the Nicaraguan republic, who is reported to have shot two American revolutionists without consulting representatives of this coun-

Impatient over the inadequacy of the information received in two telegrams from the American consul at Managua, Secretary Knox dispatched a peremptory order for full and complete advices.

"Immediately ascertain and cable full and positive information as to the fate of the two captured Americans," says his message. "This government," the dispatch continues, "can scarcely credit the report of the summary execution of two American citizens taken with the revolutionary army. The charge d'affaires of Nicaragua here has also been asked telegraphically to demand full information for this government, which will not for one moment tolerate such treatment of American citizens."

This is a pronunciamento to the Central and South American governments in particular that care must be exercised in their treatment of questions affecting American individuals and American interests.

There is a grimness about the attiture of the state department officials which does not usually attach to the adjustment of diplomatic questions. The department is determined to go to the bottom of this affair.

A further interpretation of the recognition of the belligerency of the revolutionists was made by Secretary Knox, in response to inquiries from various merchants doing business with Atlantic ports. To each has been repeated the previous announcement with this addition.

No trace of the murderers of little Hedwig Zenda, at Milwaukee, has yet been obtained by the police. A big reward will be offered for their capture by the city council.

Sheriff F. R. Davis of Alexander county, Illinois, from whom the Cairo mob took the negro Will James and lynched him, has been removed from office by Gov. Deneen, in accordance with mob violence act, which leaves him no discretion.

Two Americans, Leonard Grace and LeRoy Cannon, have been executed in Nicaragua by order of President Zelaya. They were captured while serving with the revolutionary army. The state department has ordered two warships to proceed to Nicaraguan ports with all possible speed and President Taft says Zelaya will be held responsible for his action.

Cherry, Ill.—Twenty-one men have risen from the grave. Twenty-one men, pronounced dead days ago by all the mining experts in Illinois, rose from the depths of the St. Paul mine, where, with 310 others, they had been entombed for seven days, and when the people looked at them they were words that brought up hope that hundreds of other men yet in the mine might be still alive. During the long they said they had heard sounds that the crest of the earth. Members of made them sure that the crannies and corridors about them held living men.

As nearly as can be ascertained there were 310 men in the St. Paul mine when fire sealed the shafts. Forty-eight of these have been brought to the surface, dead and shapeless. Twenty-one have been saved. Two hundred and forty-one still remain unaccounted for.

Third Vein Untouched.

Hope that there are other men alive its area covers nearly a square mile and that the third vein has scarcely been touched by the smoke. All the men saved were in the second vein. Rescuers fought in the mine with the energy of demons. They knew that every minute, every second. counted. They knew that in the case of the 21 brought up alive human vitality was tested almost to the utmost. An hour longer and many of the 21 would have died. The rescuing parties worked amid the reek of sewer gas and the fetid odor of dead bodies, but in the face of the most revolting conditions worked until they dropped.

Ten minutes before the first of the rescued miners came to the surface the news that they had been saved had been flashed like lightning over the town. Workmen dropped their tools, storekeepers left their counters, the local banker directed that his vaults should be locked and deserted the institution.

"The Men Are Alive."

"The men are alive" rang in a scream through the streets. Women dropped their work and, snatching up their children, ran to the main shaft. Hope and despair fought a battle on every face. Men showed their excitement by shouting incoherent nothings one another, while the women, tremoting in every limb, could not even weep. They stood and stared. At last the first car came to the surface. It contained eight men, all on cots. White canvas was spread over each so that the face was hidden. The cots were carried off the elevator and a squad of soldiers stepped forward with each to hold back the spectators while it was being borne to the temporary hospital in a Pullman DICTATOR IN PERIL OF WAR car near by, "They're alive! My God, they're alive!" Crowd Surges Forward.

A tumult of shouting followed and the crowd surged toward the rescued men in a wave that it seemed would overwhelm them. The militia sprang forward. As the cots passed the figures beneath could be seen to move. The crowd bent forward, straining every energy to see who it was that lay beneath the cloth. Then almost simultaneously, from 50 throats, went up the cry, "They're alive."

The militia were swept out of the way like a fence of straws.

Suddenly Capt. Hall threw up his hand.

"Men," he shouted, "you'll kill these men if you try to touch them now. Stand back, for they're saved. We know we can't stop you; stand back."

The words had an instant effect. Then a man on one of the cots lifted his mask of canvas and looked out at the crowd with a weak grin. That gave a touch of humor to the situation and the crisis was over.

Wives Meet Husbands.

After the men had been taken to the hospital there came a pause, and then the relatives of the saved men were called in.

Twenty-one men came out of the mine alive because science beat the brute forces of the earth. Two of the twenty-one men - George Eddy and Walter Waite-are the heroes of the rescue. Without their intelligence and skill the 19 men with them must have perished. Eddy is the assistant manager of the mine. He is a mining engineer, and a good one. Walter Walte, the second vein examiner, knows all the intricacies of the St. Paul mine as well as the average man knows the topography of his own back yard. When the general alarm of fire was given these two men dashed toward mine at midnight. Forty were taken the main shaft. They found the way out in the morning. This makes a barred by fire and turned back. Com- STAB PEACEMAKER TO DEATH total of 88 corpses recovered from the | ing up behind them they found 19 They stopped them and told The news of the rescue of living them that hope of escape by way of the shaft was out of the question. They said that if they would follow their orders they might save their lives. To Waite and Eddy the leaderdelirious with joy, intoxicated with ship of the group was the natural thing and the 19 agreed to obey their orders.

Form a Government,

The whole party then ran to a distant gallery of the mine in which the air was found to be comparatively pure. The two commanders ordered water found in the floor of the drift, a wall was built up that shut off the gallery from the rest of the mine, and effectively kept off the black damp. When they were able to speak the Then a vein of coal was pierced by first words that left their lips were Eddy and Waite, who knew that in every coal vein water can be found. A regular system of policing was established, a little state was formed in . watches of their own imprisonment a closed mine gallery 300 feet under this society were advised and disciplined. The fact was impressed on Hearing the aged man's cries a crowd depended upon the good behavior of the individual. The food was divided so as to prevent any one person from starving while his companions had anything of their meager store to spare. A similar provision was made with the water. When the food was all gone, the two leaders, by prayer and words of good in the mine is based on the fact that cheer, strove to keep their courage up. At last, at the end of seven days of untold privations, the crisis came. The men had almost lost hope. One of their number, who for hours had been showing signs of insanity, ran to the life-saving wall and beat a part of it down. His campanions were too weak to restrain him. He ran out into the darkness perhaps 100 feet and then the black damp seized him. He staggered and fell dead.

Build Up Wall Again.

With infinite effort the men who were left built up the wall again. When it was finished they again sat dawn and waited, with every sense acute, in the darkness for some sign | taken. that might give them hope. Hour after hour passed by and no sign of a rescue came. At last a conference was held and it was decided to make a dash for liberty. A small hole was cut in the wall, and eight mon, headed by David Walte, passed through. They advanced through the dreaded black damp zone with beating hearts. Notbing could be seen. No sound could be heard.

Suddenly at the farther end of the corridor came the rattle of footsteps and the flash of a light. It was the rescuers from above. They had at last cut through the heavy fall of coal that choked the passage from the main shaft. The miners were saved.

ZELAYA MUST GIVE SATISFAC. TION FOR OUTRAGE ON AMERICAN CITIZENS.

United States Will Adopt Extreme Measures to Obtain Reparation from Government of Nicaragua for Execution of Cannon and Groce.

Washington.—The execution of the two American citizens, LeRoy Cannon and Leonard Groce, by orders of President Zelaya, will cause the United States to adopt drastic measures to obtain reparation from the Nicaraguan government.

President Taft on his return to Washington Sunday approved Secretary Knox's recommendation that President Zelaya of the central American republic be called upon to give immediate satisfaction fof the out-

The demand will be couched in stern language, and will require a formal apology, a salute to the American flag, and perhaps the payment without delay of an indemnity for the benefit of the heirs of the deceased.

Failure to make instant compliance will cause the government to consider the observance of one of the three following plans:

1. Recognition of the belligerency of the insurgents, now operating in and controlling the eastern half of Nicaragua. 2. Seizure of the custom house at Corinto, the single port of Nicaragua, which is held by the government. 3. Declaration of war. It is possible the first two measures may be taken simultaneously. An official dispatch received from the American vice-consul at Managua Saturday announced that President Zelaya admitted he had directed the shooting of Cannon and Groce after a court-martial, and that he did so over the protest of the commander-in-chief of the Nicaraguan army and the minister general of the republic.

Police Battle with Mob Bent on Doing Harm to His Young Slayer.

Chicago.—Andrew Heil, 27 years old, 1810 South Wood street, lies dead because he attempted Sunday to be a peacemaker and defended an aged man from attack by a younger man. In his efforts to save the old man from a beating he was himself stabbed through the heart by Charles Benfield, 28 years old, who was arrested.

While he was being rushed to the patrol wagon, he narrowly escaped lynching at the hands of an angry mob of fishermen.

The scene of the tragedy was on the lake pier at the foot of Sixteenth street, in the midst of a long line of fishermen. Benfield had arrived early, and was getting his lines ready, when he called upon George Krapp, who lives in a hut near the pier to perform an errand for him. Krapp is an old man and was not yet dressed. · Benfield was in a hurry and because Krapp was slow in getting on his of fishermen gathered around in protest. Heil, however, was one of the first to offer active interference.

After ordering Benfield to desist he attempted to step between Benfield and Krap. As he did so Benfield drew a long hunting knife and, without warning, witnesses say, plunged it into the peacemaker's heart.

Jury Quickly Reaches Verdict-Prisoner Sentenced to Life Imprisonment for Wife Murder.

Chicago.-Dr. Haldane Cleminson was found guilty Saturday night of the murder of his wife. Nora Jane Cleminson, by a jury in Judge Mc-Surely's court, and his punishment was fixed at imprisonment for life.

Only one jurist stood between the accused physician and the gallows. The final verdict was reached after the 12 men had deliberated less than three hours and four ballots had been

When the verdict was read, Cleminson, who had looked for acquittai, merely gripped the arms of the chair in which he sat more tightly. His face wore the same calm expression that has characterized his appearance since his arrest.

Mrs. Cleminson was found dead in her bed, at the family residence May 30. Her husband telephoned to Dr. Paul Hullhorst and told him that burglars had entered his home, chloroformed him and his wife, and stolen a sold watch. Later Cleminson denied the burglary story, saying he had invented it to save the honor of his children and attributed his wife's death to suicide.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF

Marinette.-Helen, the four-year-old daughter of Attorney I. B. Kirkland of this city, died from burns received: while playing with her six-year-oldbrother in a playroom at her home. How the fire started is a mystery, but the father, who heard the child's cries, found her in the playroom, a mass of flames. In extinguishing the flames he was burned badly about the hands and arms. From the child's feet to the top of her head there was not a portion of her body which was not burned.

Beaver Dam.—That an attempt will be made to show that the killing of Herman Peters by Chief of Police Goetsch was unprovoked, became known when Mrs. Peters declared that her husband had made no attempt to shoot the chief. The police had been called, so the chief said, to Peters' home to pacify the man who had been drinking. As he attempted to enter a door the chief said Peters picked up a shotgun and fired at him.

Racine.-Local physicians will refuse to submit bids to the county board for services as county physiclans because, they say, the system of receiving bids is not for the best interests of the county or dependent persons, as it degrades the profession of medicine into mere commercialism. The Racine Physicians' Business association demand reasonable compensation for the work of its members.

Merrill.-Robert Zimmerman, who was last week convicted in the circuit court for setting a gun in the woods, was sentenced by Judge Reid to five years at Waupun. About a year ago, Zimmerman set a gun in the woods for the purpose of killing deer. Henry Bott, a young man, walked up against the string and the gun went off, the bullet striking Bott in the hip, wounding him so that he died later.

Fond du Lac.-John McKinley of Fond du Lac, an engineer on the Soo line, was killed at Chicago. McKinley was engineer on one of the limited passenger trains, and in entering Chicago he leaned out of his cab to more closely watch the signals. A sign board near the track struck him and hurled him from the cab to the track, the wheels of several cars passing over his body.

Rhinelander.-Walter Feder, a traveling salesman, wanted here on a charge of forgery of a $70 check at the Merchants' State bank at Rhinelander a week ago, was arrested at Columbus, O. Sheriff Jillson of Oneida left for the prisoner. Feder is also wanted at Antigo and Ashland. He is said to have forged his father's name, Marcus Feder, to the check here.

Rhinelander. - Fred Ferguson, a young Kentuckian, was arrested on a farm near this city on a warrant charging him with the murder of William Culbertson, cashier of the C. & O. railway at Commonwealth. Ky. Ferguson, it is alleged, beat Culbertson's brain out with a club when the cashier accused him of stealing coal from the railroad company.

Manitowoc.-Judge Kirwan denied the motion of the J. G. Johnson Company for a new trial in the Schmidt damage case, asked on the ground that the verdict was contrary to the evidence. Mary Schmidt brought suit for the death of her husband, who was killed at the yards in an accident. She was given a verdict for $3.025 with costs.

Racine.—For hours Joseph Susek and Jacob Hapky, two duck hunters. faced death in the lake and when completely exhausted were picked up eight miles northeast of here by the Racine life-saving crew. The two men had rowed out into the lake to shoot ducks and in some manner lost both parlocks and one par.

Racine.-A geological museum is to be erected in this city to the memory of the late Dr. Philo R. Hoy, one of the early archeologists of the state. The memorial was planned by Charles E. Brown, secretary of the Wisconsin Archeological association, and submitted to the Twentieth Century club.

Plainfield.—A small boy of J. A. Holland narrowly escaped being run over by a heavy Soo freight train. The boy caught his foot in the guard rail and could not extricate it. He called for help and two men flagged the train within 20 feet of the struggling lad.

Sheboygan.—A resolution was introduced in the council providing that the board of public works be authorized to advertise for plans and specifications for a new ten-room schoolbouse for the Eighth ward.

Stoughton,-Olaus Lewton, a drayman, 34 years of age, was killed by a freight train below the depot here. His brother was killed by a train a few years ago. Kenosha.-The county board adopt-sky before the fall of Jerusalem, it may end finally as Biela's comet did, falling in a star shower on earth, or on some other planet, or into the sun, or scattering through space around the sun in masses perhaps of nickeliron, unseen on earth, unless the earth captures them out of space and sets them blazing through the sky as they fall

Suppose we were to capture Haller's comet and it were really to fall, what would become of the earth or of the comet?

That is a fair question for all who wish to keep a proper scientific ane of our finest regular comet. It may offer something to take the place of the unscientific awe which used to send thousands to their knees, remembering their sins and praying for pardon as soon as Halley's comet began to spread its magnificent tail across the sky in other words, it made them try to think, which was, no doubt, the best thing a comet could do for them

Another important question is whether Halley's comet will bring its magnificent tail back with it, restored to its ancient and awful splendor. If it does not, the world, learned and unlearned, will be disappointed, for a comet without a tail is not awful or sublime enough to be worth growing either enthusias tic or repentant over. We cannot tell about the tail. It may come back with the comet, reduced 30 per cent., or it may finally be lost altogether or increased back to awful magnificence, streaming across the sky in such a spectacle as can be hoped for on earth only once in a lifetime

If it recovers its tail in its full historic splendor, Halley's will be too magnificent a comet to be lost, according to our ways of looking at comets. It is not a third-rate astronomer's comet like Biela's, but a comet for everybody, with all mankind interested in it. It may set all the gongs in Asia beating while we are watching it through telescopes. Millions who do not know enough to be frightened at the idea of its striking the earth may find it awful enough to make them try hard to think, with results which, while they last, may seem to them the most awful they ever felt in their lives

While all who are intelligently interested in comets will want Halley's back regularly, tail and all, as something to think about, there is a chance that it will lose its tail and also a chance, very remote now, that it may be shipwrecked finally and lost in space. It is a "chance" only until the law is learned. The chance is worth discussing only in the hope of learning more of the law. Can a comet lawfully set out of its regular path and be pulled down finally by the earth or some other planet? That is a question of law and as far as we have learned the law the answer is that it can.

We do not know much yet about the law All we are beginning to find out dates from the night in January, 1846, when Prof. Challis looked through his telescope at the Cambridge observatory and could not believe his eyes. The spectacle he saw in the heavens was too astonishing to believe. It was Biela's comet split into two distinct comets. Such a thing had never been heard of or imagined as possible. But in some way it had actually occurred Had the comet exploded by its own forces? Had it come in reach of the attraction of one of the planets and been pulled apart? What must become of a comet after being thus split in pieces? Could it come within range of the earth and be captured and pulled down to the surface? If so, would it jar the earth in its orbit or set the planet All we will ever have in the way of a final answer to these questions as they belong to the complete and final loss of Biela's comet is given officially now in the records of Nexico in the statement recorded by Senor Jose A y Bonilla, director of the astronomical observatory in the state of Zacatecas In November, 1885, it was supposed that between the twenty-fourth and twenty-ninth of the month the earth would pass in space through or near the fragments left by Biela's comet. As they were then called "Bielids." it had been concluded that they were a swarm of hundreds of thousands or perhaps of millions of small masses of meteoric matter, perhaps weighing from an ounce up to a ton or more It was feared that if the earth passed through them and drew them to the surface in davlight they would not be seen at all, but would either burn up in gas or else fall in a few scattering stones on distant parts of the earth. This may have occurred in other places, but on a ranch near Mazapil, in the state of Zacatecas, one of them (or a mass of nickel-iron belonging to some group of the same kind) was seen to fall and recovered at once by the owner of the ranch, who made the deposition taken down in Spanish by Senor Bonilla and translated by William Earl Hidden, to close the last chapter in the story of Biela's lost comet

"It was about 7 o'clock on the night of No vember 27 (1885)," said the tanchman in his deposition, "when I went out to the corral to feed the horses. Suddenly I heard a loud, sizzing noise, exactly as though something red hot was being plunged into cold water and almost instantly there followed a somewhat loud thud. At once the corral was covered with a phosphorescent light, while suspended in the air were small, luminous sparks, as though from a rocket. I had not recovered from my surprise before I saw this luminous air disappear and there remained on the ground only such a light as is made when a match is rubbed. A number of people came heat as the telescope shows in a much larger way on the face of the

it was presented as a mark of his distinguished consideration by Prof. Bonilla to William Earl Hidden, as one of the most distinguished American mineralogists, who was also an authority on meteors and meteoric minerals Analysis showed that it was 9126 per cent. iron, 784 per cent nickel, 65-100 per cent cobalt. 30-100 per cent. phosphorus, with traces of sulphur, carbon and chlorine Mr.

Hidden wrote its history in the American Journal of Science. In the century Magazine of August, 1885, he answered the question, "Is it a piece of a comet?" by summing up the evidence in connection with the known history of Biela's lost comet, since it split in 1846 and returned as two comets in 1852, to disappear finally in what were supposed to be a swarm of "bielids."

"At the time of the fall of this meteorite" (in Mexico), Hidden writes, "it was 10 hours after the maximum number of meteors was observed. The earth was meeting with only the stragglers of the train. It cannot be doubted that the cosmical dust proceeding from the disintegration of Biela's comet wholly enveloped the earth and was seen as meteors from every part of it. Such was the magnificence of the celestial phenomena in some parts of the eastern continent that some people believed there would be no more stars left in the sky.'

Biela's comet had returned regularly in a period of a little less than seven yeads until it underwent complete shipwreck in the heavens. No one ever expects to see it again. The end. as far as known, is this star shower in the night the Bonilla bielid was picked up in Mazanil, to give us the best knowledge we have of what may be expected when a comet falls.

Riela's lost comet does not compare with Halley's, which must have billions of stones or small and large masses of matter, probably nickel-iron, in its magnificent head. If it were shipwrecked by Jupiter, by the earth or by any other planet, these, if they were drawn close enough by the planet to break the hold the sun has on them, may do a number of interesting things

They might revolve around the earth at a distance, collecting in such a ring as that of Saturn, which is supposed to be composed of an infinite number of such stones, or they might whirl closer and closer in revolving around it until finally the largest of them. which do not burn up in the atmosphere by friction, must fall as this bielld fell in Mexico. The hope of getting a beautiful earth ring, such as that of Saturn's, by capturing comets, is very small, if only because comets have not matter enough in them to make it.

THANKSGIVING DAY

Canada's Day of Thanks a Month Earlier Than in the United States.

For some reason better known to the Canadians themselves than to the people on this side of the line, our Canadian cousins celebrated their Thanksgiving a month or more earlier than we do It may be that the Canadian turkey had become impatient, and sounded a note of warning, or it may be that the "frost on the pumpkin" declared itself. But whatever the reason, their Thanksgiving day is past. It may have been that the reasons for giving thanks so much earlier than we do were pushing themselves so hard and so fast that the Canadians were ashamed to postpone the event. They have had reasons, and good ones, too, tor giving thanks. Their great broad areas of prairie land have yielded in sbundance, and here, by the way, it is not uninteresting to the friends of the millions of Americans who have made their home in Canada during the past few years to know that they have participated most generously in the cutting of the melon" Probably the western portion of Canada, comprising the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, have the greatest reason of any of the provinces to express in the most enthusiastic manner their gratitude. The results in the line of production give ample reason for devout thanksgiving to Providence. This year has surpassed all others in so far as the total increase in the country's wealth is concerned There is no question that Providence was especially generous The weather conditions were perfect, and during the ripening and harvesting period, there was nothing to interfere. And now it was well it was so for with a demand for labor that could not be supplied, there was the greatest danger, but with suitable weather the garnering of the grain has been successfully accompushed There have been low general averages, but these are accounted for by the fact that farmers were indifferent, relying altogether upon what a good soil would do There will be no more low averages though, for this year has shown what good, careful farming will do It will produce 130 million bushels of wheat from seven million acres, and it will produce a splendid lot of oats, yielding anywhere from 50 to 100 bushels per acre. This on land that has cost but trom $10 to $15 per acre-many farmers have realized sufficient from this year's crop to pay the entire cost of their farms. The Toronto Globe says:

"The whole population of the West rejoices in the bounty of Providence, and sends out a message of gratitude and appreciation of the favors which have been bestowed on the country. The cheerfulness which has abounded with industry during the past six months has not obliterated the conception of the source from which the blessings have flown, and the good feeling is combined with a spirit of thankfulness for the privilege of living in so fruitful a land The misfortunes of the past are practically forgotten, because there is great cause to contemplate with satisfaction the comforts of the present Thanksgiving should be a season of unusual enthusiasm "

Should Be Underground and for Durability and Best of Service Be Made Circular.

(FRED O. SIBLEY.) A cistern for the collection and storage of roof water should be under ground and, for durability and the best of service, be made circular. Dig a hole ten to fifteen feet deep, and from six to eight feet in diameter, depending on the quantity of water one wants to store. The site selected should be dry, for while a distern can be built so as to hold water it is almost impossible to keep water out of it if there is a spring where the hole is dug.

Take pains that the hole is dug symmetrical, the sides smooth, and the bottom oval. For a foundation, a stone about two feet square should be used. Beginning on this lay a twoinch brick against the earth until the wall is nearly to the top of the perpendicular sides where the thickness should be increased to four inches. About five feet from the top the wall should be drawn in by tipping the outer edge of the brick a little at first and until the upper outside of them is at an angle of about 45 degrees when the arch is finished. A good mason can easily do this. The top of the arch should be about two feet below the surface of the ground. The circular neck should extend to or a little mented into the wall and conducted less husbandry. away until there is a good outlet. By tom of the cistern water that contains the most impurities can be taken out, but in order to prevent the water from being siphoned out, as would occur if the outlet were lower than the bottom of the cistern, a hole must be drilled in the pipe at its highest point.

Good cement mortar is required to lay the bricks and when completed its interior should have an application of two coats of cement. The last one, a light coat, should be put on before the first is dry. It is best finished off with a whitewash brush.

Blake started to swim back to the ship to recover what was left. Blake returned safely. Winthrope wasted his list match on a cigarette, for which he was scored by Blake. Their first meal was a dead fish. The trio started a ten mile linke for higher land. Thirst attacked them Blake was compelled to carry Miss Leslie on account of weariness. He taunted Winthrope. They entered the jungle. That might was passed roosting high in a tree. The next morning they descended to the open again. All three constructed hots to shield themselves from the sun. They then feasted on occountis, the only procurable food. Miss Leslie showed a liking for Blake, but detested his roughness. Led by Blake they established a home in some cliffs. Blake found a fresh water spring. Miss Leslie faced an unpleasant situation. They planned their campaign, Blake recovered his surveyor's magnifying glass, thus insuring fire. He started a jungle fire, killing a large leopard and smothering several cubs. In the leopard's cavern they built a small home. They gained the cliffs by burning the bottom of a tree until it fell against the heights. The trio secured eggs from the cliffs. Miss Leslie's white skirt was decided upon as a signal. Miss Leslie made a dress from the leopard skin. Blake's efforts to kill antelopes failed. Overhearing a conversation between Blake and Winthrope. Miss Leslie became frightened. Winthrope became ill with fever. Blake was poisoned by a fish. Jackals attacked the camp that night, but were driven off by Genevieve. Blake returned, after nearly dying. Blake constructed an animal trap. It killed a hyena. On a tour the trio discovered honey and oysters. Miss Leslie was attacked by a poisonous snake Blake killed it and saved its poison to kill game.

CHAPTER XVII.—Continued.

When he came to the ant-hill, he found companions and honey alike gone. He went on to the cocoanuts. There he came upon Winthrope stretched flat beside the skin of honey. Miss Leslie was seated a little way beyond, nervously bending a palm-leaf into shape for a hat.

"I say, Blake," drawled Winthrope, "you've been a deuced long time in coming. It was no end of a task to lug the honey-"

Blake brushed past without replying, and went on until he stood before the girl. As she glanced up at him, he held out the crimson blossom. "Thought you might like posies," he

But Blake, cut to the quick, had turned away far too angry to heed what she said. He stopped short bethe skin of honey upon his back. The load was by no means a light one, even for his strength. Yet he caught up the heavy pot as well, and made off across the plain at a pace which the others could not hope to equal.

As Winthrope rose and came forward to join Miss Leslie, he looked about closely for the bruised flower, It was nowhere in sight. "Er-beg pardon, Miss Genevieve,

"Ah, to be sure! But really now, you would not ask, or even permit him to murder me; and one is not legally bound, you know, to observe promises—a pledge of silence, for example -when extorted under duress, under violence, you know."

Miss Leslie looked the Englishman up and down, her brown eyes sparside the Englishman; but only to sling kling with quick-returning anger. He met her scorn with a smile of smug complacency.

"Cad!" she cried, and turning her back upon him, she set out across the plain after Blake.

CHAPTER XVIII.

The Eavesdropper Caught.

VEN had it not been for her doubts of Plake, the girl's modesty would have caused her to think twice before repeating to him the Englishman's insulting proposal. While she yet hesitated and delayed. Winthrope came down with a second attack of fever. Blake, who until then had held himself sullenly apart from him as well as from Miss Leslie, at once softened to a gentler, or, at least, to a more considerate mood. Though his speech and bearing continued morose, he took upon himself all the duties of night nurse, besides working and foraging several

Much to Miss Leslie's surprise, she found herself tending the invalid through the daytime almost as though nothing had happened. But everything about this wild and perilous life was curred to you, my dear, that this entire so strange and unnatural to her that experience of ours since that beastly she found herself accepting the most unconventional relations as a regular consequence of the situation. She was feverishly eager for anything that might occupy her mind; for she felt that to brood over the future might are you prepared to marry that bar- mean madness. the fever. A little before dawn he dipped two contents of the cigarette case, fitted them carefully to their shafts and stole of her duty. But now she felt that she "One moment, please! from him; then came the flood of crimson light, and he made out that the figures were a drove of huge eland.

His eyes flashed with eagerness. It was a long shot; but he knew that no more was required than to pierce the skin on any part of his quarry's body. He put his fingers between his teeth and sent out a piercing whistle. It was a trick he had tried more than once on deer and pronghorn antelope. As he expected, the eland halted and swung half around. Their ox-like sides presented a mark hard to miss.

He rose and shot as they were wheeling to fly. Before he could fit his second arrow to the string the whole herd were running off at a lumbering kallon. He lowered his bow and walked after the animals, smiling with grim anticipation. He had seen his arrow strike against the side of the young bull at which he had aimed.

So great was the abundance of meat that Blake worked all the remainder of the day and all night stringing the flesh on the curing racks, and Miss Leslie tried out pot after pot of fat and tallow, until every spare vessel was filled and she had to resort to a hollow in the rock beside the spring. Blake promised to make more pots as soon as he could fetch the clay, but he had first to dress the eland hide and prepare a new stock of thread and cord from parts of the animal which he was careful not to let her see.

Whatever their concern for the fu ture-and even Blake's was keen and bitter-the party, as a party, for the time being might have been considered extremely fortunate. They had a shelter secure alike from the weather and from wild heasts; an abundance of nutritious food, and, as material for clothing, the bushbuck, hyena and eland hides. To obtain more skins and more meat Blake now knew would be a simple matter so long as he had enough poison left in the cigarette case to moisten the tips of his arrows.

Even Winthrope's relapse proved far less serious than might reasonably have been expected. The fever soon left him and within a few days he regained strength enough to care for himself. Here, however, much to Blake's perplexity and concern, his progress seemed to stop, and all Blake's urging could do no more than cause him to move languidly from one shady spot to another. He would receive Blake's orders with a smile and a drawling "Ya-as, to be sure!"-and then absolutely ignore the matter.

Only in two ways did the invalid ex hibit any signs of energy. He could and did eat with a heartiness little short of that shown by Blake, and he would insist upon seeking opportunities to press his attentions upon Miss Leslie. He was careful to avoid all offensive remarks; yet the veriest commonplace from his lips was now an offense to the girl. While he needed her as nurse she had endured his talk as part could no longer do so. Taking advantage of a time when the English-life. WANTS HER MILI

I have had twenty years experience in orthige and vagetable growing in the state and am thoroughly convinced the high rolling lands of the late region is by far the most perferable land for orange growing; as the fruit grown on this high mady noil have a thin, tough skin and will ship much better than fruit grown on the "fat woods" or "humseck" lands of the state.
